

MAINE ELECTION
ELATES COLONEL

Roosevelt Says Republican Governor Will Support Him.

ENTHRONEMENT OF THE BOSSES

Progressive President Nominates Plays Democrats in Speeches at Seattle and Tacoma, Wash., and Gives His Views of What a Democratic Victory Will Mean—Bluejack-ets Act as Voluntary Escort.

Tacoma, Wash., Sept. 11.—Colonel Theodore Roosevelt, who completed his journey across the continent when he crossed the Cascade mountains and arrived at Puget Sound, expressed elation when he read final results from the Maine election. He said it was a victory for the Progressives.

"We named for governor of Maine the man the Progressives wanted," the colonel declared. "He wrote to me that he hoped we would not make a fight against him; that he was for me and that he would come out for us after the election. I have just received word that he carried the state and that in accordance with his promise he had come out for the Progressive national ticket."

Colonel Roosevelt delivered an address in the stadium here, attacking the Democratic party and declaring it had made no fight against the "bosses" during the primary campaign. A Democratic victory in November would mean, he said, "the enthronement of the bosses, each in his own state."

The colonel, who spent most of the day in Seattle before coming to Tacoma, was followed through the streets there by a hundred bluejackets from the battleship Oregon, on shore leave.

Marines Storm Colonel's Hotel.

After marching about to the song, "Everybody's Roosevelt Now," they stormed the colonel's hotel. Colonel Roosevelt shook hands all around and the bluejackets trooped out. Nothing more was seen of them until the colonel had begun his speech at the Progressive state convention, when sounds of tumult were heard through the closed doors. The Oregon detachment was demanding admittance, which the police refused. Colonel Roosevelt again went to the rescue and directed that they be let in. They stayed to the end, escorted Roosevelt to the station and then sent a detachment of seven men to accompany him to Tacoma.

In his speech Colonel Roosevelt reiterated that the Republican national convention had been "stolen from the people by the bosses," adding that "the more flagrant of the many thefts necessary to make up a stolen majority in that convention have since been rewarded by unblinking use of party patronage in a fashion as scandalous as the original wrongdoing."

PROGRESSIVES NAME HODGE

Seattle Man Nominated Governor in Washington State.

Seattle, Sept. 11.—The Progressive state convention nominated a state ticket headed by Robert T. Hodge of Seattle for the governorship and named the following candidates for congress.

At large, J. A. Falconer of Everett and J. W. Bryan of Bremerton; First district, Daniel Landon of Seattle; Second, Stanton Warburton of Tacoma; Third, F. M. Goodwin of Spokane.

The nominees were selected at the primary held last Saturday. Under the state law it was necessary for a state convention to certify the names to the secretary of state.

A platform was adopted similar to that of the Chicago Progressive convention.

WHITE SLAVER SENTENCED

Charges Brought by White Girl Sends Negro to Penitentiary.

Superior, Wis., Sept. 11.—Found guilty of white slavery on charges brought by a fifteen-year-old white girl Fred Newman, a negro formerly of Chicago, was sentenced to the penitentiary for two years nine months. The girl's testimony also will figure largely in the trial of Mae Jackson, negro, on the same charge. A third negro is to be tried under the federal white slavery law. The girl was arrested with Newman in a negro den recently. Both were smoking opium.

MAY CONTEST ASTOR WILL

Baby's Guardian Won't Accept Proviso at Second Probating.

New York, Sept. 11.—The will of John Jacob Astor, who perished when the Titanic went down, was admitted to probate for the second time. The birth of a posthumous heir made the step necessary.

With the second probating a statement was filed by Edgerton L. Winthrop, Jr., the Astor baby's guardian, in effect that nothing contained in the probate should be considered an acceptance for the heir of "any proviso that it may be claimed is made for him under the provisions of the will."

GAYNOR DEFENDS
NEW YORK POLICE

Mayor Loses His Temper and Threatens to Leave Stand.

IGNORES MANY QUESTIONS

Aldermanic Committee Probing Alleged Police Graft Listens to Picturesque Retorts From Noted Witness—Mayor Denounces Hearing as Scandal-Mongering Excursion.

New York, Sept. 11.—For more than two hours William J. Gaynor, mayor of New York, sat in a witness chair at the city hall and parried with picturesque retort and evasion the attempts of counsel for an aldermanic committee to learn his views on the police situation brought to a head by the murder of the gambler, Herman Rosenthal.

Three times he threatened to leave the stand because he considered the questions irrelevant; twice he denounced the hearing as a scandal-mongering excursion and often throughout his testimony he repeated that attempts to "scandalize" him would be in vain, for, he said, he had lived in the city too long and had begun his efforts to purify government long before Emory R. Buckner, counsel for the committee, was born.

At no time during his examination would he admit that the police department was inefficient. He expressed renewed confidence in Rhinelander Waldo, commissioner of police, and declared that if the social evil flourished it was at least on the decrease and was a lesser evil than police blackmail, which he had tried to eradicate. By way of a counter investigation of the committee, whose chairman, Alderman William H. Curran, he denounced the mayor before taking the stand set on foot an investigation of reports that the committee had accepted a stenographic work.

Ignores Many Questions.

Nine out of every ten questions asked by Mr. Buckner remained unanswered. The mayor had formed no opinions, he said, and had not come to tell his opinions anyway. If he were asked about facts or about instances wherein the police department had violated the law he was ready to answer.

Four things, he said, he had brought about in the department. First, he had done away with police "violence and club plying;" second, he had forbidden the practice of policemen degrading themselves to get evidence against disorderly houses by consorting with immoral women; third, he had insisted on the integrity of the civil service, so that "Murphy or anybody else can't influence appointments;" fourth, he had done away with graft in connection with enforcement of the liquor laws. This graft, he said, had amounted to $3,000,000 annually.

Though the mayor lost his temper time and again and protested to Mr. Buckner that he was asking foolish questions the young lawyer kept at his task patiently, untroubled by the rebuffs. The crowd which jammed the aldermanic chamber until standing room only remained frequently broke into applause at the mayor's retorts.

"I hope you do not think I am trying to badger you, Mr. Gaynor," remarked Mr. Buckner.

"Oh, I have to make allowance for your zeal and everything," replied the mayor laconically. "I was young once myself."

WRECK ON NICKEL PLATE

Spreading Rail Results in Injury to Twenty-eight.

Erie, Pa., Sept. 11.—Twenty-eight persons were seriously injured when eastbound train No. 6 of the Nickel Plate road was derailed at Fagan Road, near this city. Among the injured were:

P. S. Walker, St. Paul; R. S. Walker, St. Paul; Mrs. L. M. Walker, St. Paul; M. S. Hules, Antigo, Wis.; Mrs. M. S. Hules, Antigo, Wis.

The engine of the train, it is said, passed safely over a spreading rail, but the tender was thrown off the track, causing the wreck. The derailment of the tender tore up the tracks, making passage of the mail car impossible. Following this the coaches in the rear of the mail car, with the exception of one in front of the private car, fell into an eight-foot ditch.

NICARAGUAN REVOLT WANES

Uprising Has dwindled to Proportions of Periodical Flurry.

Washington, Sept. 11.—The revolution in Nicaragua is on the wane, according to advices from Rear Admiral Southerland to the navy department. The admiral reported that the railroad is now completely in the hands of the American landing forces and that the uprising has dwindled to the proportions of "the usual Central American revolution."

DR. DUMAS GOES TO PRISON

Former Mayor of Cass Lake, Minn. Sentenced for Arson.

Bemidji, Minn., Sept. 11.—Protest ing his innocence and asserting through his attorney, George Spear of Grand Rapids, that he has been prevented from ever telling his side of the story Dr. D. F. Dumas, until last spring mayor of Cass Lake and one of the most successful physicians in Northern Minnesota, was sentenced in district court by Judge W. S. McClelland to an indeterminate term at hard labor at Stillwater on the charge of attempted arson in the third degree.

This charge grew out of the Pupok raid in June, 1911, when Mike Davis and Martin Behan were trapped in the postoffice building while attempting to rob and burn the building, according to evidence produced by the state. Testimony also went to show that Dr. Dumas had planned this expedition and that he had been a confederate of criminals.

EXTRA SESSION IF WILSON IS ELECTEDDemocratic Leaders Favor Immediate Tariff Revision.

Washington, Sept. 11.—The industrial interests of the country will probably be interested to know that it is already the plan of the Democratic candidate for president, Governor Woodrow Wilson, in case he is elected, to call congress in extra session immediately after March 4 next to revise the tariff. The plan has been discussed with the Democratic leaders and if Governor Wilson is elected congress will be called in extraordinary session not later than April 1.

The first step in the direction of tariff revision will be to try to pass the separate tariff bills prepared and passed by the Democratic house at the last two sessions. These are measures revising respectively the wool, cotton, metal, chemical and sugar schedules and in addition the so called excise tax bill. This will probably not be the end of tariff revision, but it is all that is comprehended in the plan of the extraordinary session.

TROOPS WILL CROSS LINE

Mexican Regulars to Pass Through American Territory.

Washington, Sept. 11.—Permission was given to move 1,200 Mexican troops through United States territory to attack Mexican rebels in the state of Sonora and the reported repulse and retreat from the border of the rebel leader, General Salazar, and his men combined to bring satisfaction to government officials here. The permission to move troops was granted Mexico without hesitation and every thing will be done to insure the careful transportation of federals.

While a certain amount of unrest will exist on the international boundary line as long as the trouble in Mexico continues officials here are deeply gratified that the scene of hostilities apparently is being removed from the border.

TAFT MEN WILL SWING AXE

National Committee to Try Alleged Disloyal Members.

New York, Sept. 11.—A meeting of the Republican national campaign committee to consider charges of disloyalty to the Taft cause which have been made against certain members has been called for Wednesday, Sept. 18, at noon in this city. Chairman Hillier, who issued the call, said:

"The subcommittee appointed by the national committee has power to act upon these charges, but we have preferred to call together the whole committee in order that the situation may be thoroughly disclosed to every Republican in the United States and the fullest publicity given to our proceedings."

BOURNE IS BUSY
ON PARCELS POST

Working With Postoffice Officials to Get It Started.

SAYS IT WILL RUN SMOOTHLY.

Only Necessary That New Law Should Be Studied and Understood—Former Governor Montague of Virginia as a Member of the House—Representative Akin Will Be Missed.

By ARTHUR W. DUNN.

Washington, Sept. 11.—[Special.]—No law passed by congress ever has been in quite such great demand as the postoffice appropriation bill. That supply bill, which ordinarily should carry the appropriations for the postal service, was loaded down with legislation of importance to the people. The most important of all was the parcels post scheme, which will have a far reaching effect upon the country when in complete operation. Then there was the roads provision, although it fell much short of the original Shackelford proposition passed by the house; also the Barnhart amendment, which provides for the publication of names of newspaper owners.

Several different commissions have been provided in the postoffice bill, all of which are expected to begin grinding as soon as the campaign is over.

Busy Senator Bourne.

As Senator Bourne was the father of the parcels post scheme he has been a very busy man ever since the law passed, working with the postoffice officials in getting it started. The Oregon senator insists there is going to be no difficulty in administering the law, but says that it should be first studied and understood. With the idea of educating the people as well as the officials he has had circulars and copies of the law printed which give general information concerning the parcels post plan as it now stands.

Might Have Been a Senator.

Solomon Luna, who met such a tragic death on his ranch in New Mexico, was a member of the Republican national committee and might have been a senator from the new state if he had desired the place. Luna was making $100,000 a year out of the sheep business and he did not want to leave that profitable industry.

"Sol, why didn't you come to the senate?" asked one of his friends.

"Which would you rather do," asked Luna in response, "be one senator or make two?"

But Luna was not the only man of New Mexico who claimed to have been responsible for the election of the senators from that state. Another man remarked, "Neither of 'em could have been elected without me."

It is possible the legislature might have been delinked.

A Governor in the House.

Former Governor A. J. Montague of Virginia is to come to the house of representatives to succeed Captain Lamb. It is not very often that governors come to the house. Men go from the house to the governorship and thence to the senate, but only in rare intervals have governors gone into the house. Montague owes his election to a number of circumstances.

One of the most potent was that Captain Lamb incurred the hostility of the Daughters of the American Revolution by talking bluntly to them about the interference of women in government affairs. They made the gallant captain remember that women are of some account in politics. Montague also had the opposition of the Virginia machine, and to achieve a victory over it was quite a distinction.

Called a Cozy Shelf.

For years the governorship in both Virginia and Missouri has been called a cozy shelf. William J. Stone broke the hoodoo for Missouri, being the first man who has ever been governor who reached any place of prominence afterward. Claude Swanson broke the hoodoo for Virginia, as he is the only man who has held the place who ever came to the front afterward. Now Montague has been elected to the house. He is a brilliant man and may come to the senate some time in the future.

Japanese in Hawaii.

It developed in a recent debate in the house that 75 per cent of the population of Hawaii are Japanese. The statement was made by Congressman Raker of California and controverted by Congressman Flood of Virginia. Raker said that this large proportion of Japanese was shown in a government report not yet made public.

Perhaps this state of affairs may account for the activity of the military arm in securing an increase in fortifications in the islands and in getting troops sent there. There have been assertions to the effect that nearly all, or at least a large percentage, of the Japs in Hawaii are trained Japanese soldiers.

Akin Will Be Missed.

And so we are not to have Theron Akin "in our midst" after the end of the present congress. He will be missed. No man contributed more to the "enjoyment of nations," and this nation particularly, than the member from the Twenty-fifth New York district. Akin stirred up several people and also exposed many fakes connected with the Congressional Record.

BURLEIGH WILL BE SENATOR

Receives Preferential Vote in the Maine Election.

Portland, Me., Sept. 11.—Maine emerged from the state election, in which the Republicans were victorious, to find herself facing another political contest with five parties instead of four in the race for the six presidential electoral votes.

The Progressive party, whose leaders had joined with the Republicans in the state election, came into being after announcement of the election of William L. Haines for governor, three out of four Republican representatives to congress and a Republican majority in the legislature, which will choose a United States senator. Former Representative Edwin C. Burleigh received the Republican preferential vote for senator at the present primaries.

New York, Sept. 11.—The Progressive party, since it was formed on July 1 last in Chicago, has received total contributions of $55,199 and has expended $55,233, according to H. Hooker, the party's national treasurer.

Mr. Hooker's announcement was in the form of a statement which showed also that unpaid bills up to Sept. 7 amounted to $3,561.57 and obligations for rent, printing and other contracts outstanding amount to $53,124.

Of the total contributions the New York headquarters received $53,527 and Chicago headquarters $1,872. The New York expenditures were $51,682.33 and those of Chicago $3,551.08.

The two largest contributions were from George W. Perkins and Frank A. Munsey, who gave $10,000 each. George Moore of New York and Mrs. Charles B. Wood, aunt of Gifford Pinchot, each gave $5,000.

The $1,000 contributors were William Wrigley, Jr., of Chicago; W. Emlen Roosevelt, George E. Roosevelt, George A. Soden of Chicago and the family of Charles H. Davis of South Yarmouth, Mass. Mrs. Emlen Roosevelt gave $500 and Miss Emily T. Carew, a sister of Mrs. Theodore Roosevelt, gave $300. George P. Porter of Chicago was credited with one contribution of $700 and another of $500.

Oxford, Eng., Sept. 11.—Another double aviation fatality, the second within a week, occurred to members of the army flying corps when Lieutenant C. A. Bettington and Lieutenant E. Hotchkiss, both of whom had just been given commissions on probation, were killed while flying past Wolvercote.

The machine in which the officers were maneuvering had passed over Oxford and had reached a point just outside Wolvercote when the motor appeared to stop and the aeroplane fell to the ground from a height of 500 feet.

Washington, Sept. 11.—Robert G. Mr. Valentine's letter of resignation was forwarded to Secretary of the Interior Fisher.

It was accompanied by a statement in which Mr. Valentine set forth that he is out of tune with the administration politically and that he has decided to quit the Republican organization to join the new party.

Commissioner Valentine is the second federal officer to retire since Colonel Roosevelt was nominated by the Progressive party at Chicago. The first was Herbert Knox Smith, commissioner of corporations. He is now at the front of the Bull Moose herd in Connecticut. Mr. Valentine plans to assist the Bull Moose movement in Massachusetts.

"I am inclined to the belief that Massachusetts is good fighting ground for the Progressive cause," said Commissioner Valentine. "It is my opinion that with proper work Massachusetts can be cornered for Colonel Roosevelt. I shall do my best to

MAINE ELECTION ELATES COLONEL

Roosevelt Says Republican Governor Will Support Him.

ENTHRONEMENT OF THE BOSSES

Progressive Presidential Nominee Plays Democrats in Speeches at Seattle and Tacoma, Wash., and Gives His Views of What a Democratic Victory Will Mean—Bluejackets Act as Voluntary Escort.

Tacoma, Wash., Sept. 11.—Colonel Theodore Roosevelt, who completed his journey across the continent when he crossed the Cascade mountains and arrived at Puget Sound, expressed elation when he read final results from the Maine election. He said it was a victory for the Progressives.

"I named for governor of Maine the man the Progressives wanted," the colonel declared. "He wrote to me that he hoped we would not make a fight against him; that he was for me and that he would come out for us after the election. I have just received word that he carried the state and that in accordance with his promise he had come out for the Progressive national ticket."

Colonel Roosevelt delivered an address in the stadium here, attacking the Democratic party and declaring it had made no fight against the "bosses" during the primary campaign. A Democratic victory in November would mean, he said, "the enthronement of the bosses, each in his own state."

The colonel, who spent most of the day in Seattle before coming to Tacoma, was followed through the streets there by a hundred bluejackets from the battleship Oregon, on shore leave.

Marines Storm Colonel's Hotel.

After marching about to the song, "Everybody's Roosevelt Now," they stormed the colonel's hotel. Colonel Roosevelt shook hands all around and the bluejackets trooped out. Nothing more was seen of them until the colonel had begun his speech at the Progressive state convention, when sounds of tumult were heard through the closed doors. The Oregon detachment was demanding admittance, which the police refused. Colonel Roosevelt again went to the rescue and directed that they be let in. They stayed to the end, escorted Roosevelt to the station and then sent a detachment of seven men to accompany him to Tacoma.

In his speech Colonel Roosevelt reiterated that the Republican national convention had been "stolen from the people by the bosses," adding that "the more flagrant of the many thefts necessary to make up a stolen majority in that convention have since been rewarded by unblushing use of party patronage in a fashion as scandalous as the original wrongdoing."

"Nowhere," he said, "has this been more scandalous than here in Washington, where the department of justice itself has been prosecuted to the reward of highway robbery."

PROGRESSIVES NAME HODGE

Seattle Man Nominated Governor in Washington State.

Seattle, Sept. 11.—The Progressive state convention nominated a state ticket headed by Robert T. Hodge of Seattle for the governorship and named the following candidates for congress.

At large, J. A. Falconer of Everett and J. W. Bryan of Bremerton; First district, Daniel Landon of Seattle; Second, Stanton Warburton of Tacoma; Third, F. M. Goodwin of Spokane.

The nominees were selected at the primary held last Saturday. Under the state law it was necessary for a state convention to certify the names to the secretary of state.

A platform was adopted similar to that of the Chicago Progressive convention.

WHITE SLAVER SENTENCED

Charges Brought by White Girl Sends Negro to Penitentiary.

Superior, Wis., Sept. 11.—Found guilty of white slavery on charges brought by a fifteen-year-old white girl Fred Newman, a negro formerly of Chicago, was sentenced to the penitentiary for two years nine months. The girl's testimony also will figure largely in the trial of Mae Jackson, negro, on the same charge. A third negro is to be tried under the federal white slavery law. The girl was arrested with Newman in a negro den recently. Both were smoking opium.

MAY CONTEST ASTOR WILL

Baby's Guardian Won't Accept Proviso at Second Probating.

New York, Sept. 11.—The will of John Jacob Astor, who perished when the Titanic went down, was admitted to probate for the second time. The birth of a posthumous heir made the step necessary.

With the second probating a statement was filed by Edgerton L. Winthrop, Jr., the Astor baby's guardian, in effect that nothing contained in the probate should be considered an acceptance for the heir of "any proviso that it may be claimed is made for him under the provisions of the will."

DR. DUMAS GOES TO PRISON

Former Mayor of Cass Lake, Minn., Sentenced for Arson.

Bemidji, Minn., Sept. 11.—Protest ing his innocence and asserting through his attorney, George Spear of Grand Rapids, that he has been prevented from ever telling his side of the story Dr. D. F. Dumas, until last spring mayor of Cass Lake and one of the most successful physicians in Northern Minnesota, was sentenced in district court by Judge W. S. McClellan to an indeterminate term, at hard labor at Stillwater on the charge of attempted arson in the third degree.

This charge grew out of the Pupokky raid in June, 1911, when Mike Davis and Martin Behan were trapped in the postoffice building while attempting to rob and burn the building, according to evidence produced by the state. Testimony also went to show that Dr. Dumas had planned this expedition and that he had been a confederate of criminals.

EXTRA SESSION IF WILSON IS ELECTED

Democratic Leaders Favor Immediate Tariff Revision.

Washington, Sept. 11.—The industrial interests of the country will probably be interested to know that it is already the plan of the Democratic candidate for president, Governor Woodrow Wilson, in case he is elected, to call congress in extra session immediately after March 4 next to revise the tariff. The plan has been discussed with the Democratic leaders and if Governor Wilson is elected congress will be called in extraordinary session not later than April 1.

The first step in the direction of tariff revision will be to try to pass the separate tariff bills prepared and passed by the Democratic house at the last two sessions. These measures revising respectively the wool, cotton, metal, chemical and sugar schedules and in addition the so called excise tax bill. This will probably be the end of tariff revision, but it is all that is comprehended in the plan of the extraordinary session.

TROOPS WILL CROSS LINE

Mexican Regulars to Pass Through American Territory.

Washington, Sept. 11.—Permission was given to move 1,200 Mexican troops through United States territory to attack Mexican rebels in the state of Sonora and the reported repulse and retreat from the border of the rebel leader, General Salazar, and his men combined to bring satisfaction to government officials here. The permission to move troops was granted Mexico without hesitation and every thing will be done to insure the careful transportation of federals.

While a certain amount of unrest will exist on the international boundary line as long as the trouble in Mexico continues officials here are deeply gratified that the scene of hostilities apparently is being removed from the border.

TAFT MEN WILL SWING AXE

National Committee to Try Alleged Disloyal Members.

New York, Sept. 11.—A meeting of the Republican national campaign committee to consider charges of disloyalty to the Taft cause which have been made against certain members has been called for Wednesday, Sept. 18, at noon in this city.

Chairman Hilles, who issued the call, said:

"The subcommittee appointed by the national committee has power to act upon these charges, but we have preferred to call together the whole committee in order that the situation may be thoroughly disclosed to every Republican in the United States and the fullest publicity given to our proceedings."

BOURNE IS BUSY ON PARCELS POST

Working With Postoffice Officials to Get It Started.

SAYS IT WILL RUN SMOOTHLY.

Only Necessary That New Law Should Be Studied and Understood—Former Governor Montague of Virginia as Member of the House—Representative Akin Will Be Missed.

By ARTHUR W. DUNN.

Washington, Sept. 11.—[Special.]—No law passed by congress ever has been in quite such great demand as the postoffice appropriation bill. That supply bill, which ordinarily should carry the appropriations for the postal service, was loaded down with legislation of importance to the people. The most important of all was the parcels post scheme, which will have a far reaching effect upon the country when in complete operation. Then there was the roads provision, although it fell much short of the original Shackleford proposition passed by the house; also the Barnhart amendment, which provides for the publication of names of newspaper owners.

Several different commissions have been provided in the postoffice bill, all of which are expected to begin grinding as soon as the campaign is over.

Busy Senator Bourne.

As Senator Bourne was the father of the parcels post scheme he has been a very busy man ever since the law passed, working with the postoffice officials in getting it started. The Oregon senator insists there is going to be no difficulty in administering the law, but says that it should be first studied and understood. With the idea of educating the people as well as the officials he has had circulars and copies of the law printed which give general information concerning the parcels post plan as it now stands.

Might Have Been a Senator.

Solomon Luna, who met such a tragic death on his ranch in New Mexico, was a member of the Republican national committee and might have been a senator from the new state if he had desired the place. Luna was making $100,000 a year out of the sheep business and he did not want to leave that profitable industry.

"Sol, why didn't you come to the senate?" asked one of his friends.

"Which would you rather do," asked Luna in response, "be one senator or make two?"

But Luna was not the only man of New Mexico who claimed to have been responsible for the election of the senators from that state. Another man remarked, "Neither of 'em could have been elected without me."

It is possible the legislature might have been deadlocked.

A Governor in the House.

Former Governor A. J. Montague of Virginia is to come to the house of representatives to succeed Captain Lamb. It is not very often that governors come to the house. Men go from the house to the governorship and thence to the senate, but only in rare intervals have governors gone into the house. Montague owes his election to a number of circumstances.

One of the most potent was that Captain Lamb incurred the hostility of the Daughters of the American Revolution by talking bluntly to them about the interference of women in government affairs. They made the gallant captain remember that women are of some account in politics. Montague also had the opposition of the Virginia machine, and to achieve a victory over it was quite a distinction.

Called a Cozy Shelf.

For years the governorship in both Virginia and Missouri has been called a cozy shelf. William J. Stone broke the hoodoo for Missouri, being the first man who has ever been governor who reached any place of prominence afterward. Claude Swanson broke the hoodoo for Virginia, as he is the only man who has held the place who ever came to the front afterward. Now Montague has been elected to the house. He is a brilliant man and may come to the senate some time in the future.

Japanese in Hawaii.

It developed in a recent debate in the house that 75 per cent of the population of Hawaii are Japanese. The statement was made by Congressman Raker of California and controverted by Congressman Flood of Virginia. Raker said that this large proportion of Japanese was shown in a government report not yet made public.

Perhaps this state of affairs may account for the activity of the military arm in securing an increase in fortifications in the islands and in getting troops sent there. There have been assertions to the effect that nearly all, or at least a large percentage, of the Japs in Hawaii are trained Japanese soldiers.

Akin Will Be Missed.

And so we are not to have Theron Akin "in our midst" after the end of the present congress. He will be missed. No man contributed more to the "gayety of nations," and this nation particularly, than the member from the Twenty-fifth New York district. Akin stirred up several people and also exposed many fakes connected with the Congressional Record.

BURLEIGH WILL BE SENATOR

Receives Preferential Vote in the Maine Election.

Portland, Me., Sept. 11.—Maine emerged from the state election, in which the Republicans were victorious, to find herself facing another political contest with five parties instead of four in the race for the six presidential electoral votes.

The Progressive party, whose leaders had joined with the Republicans in the state election, came into being after announcement of the election of William L. Haines for governor, three out of four Republican representatives to congress and a Republican majority in the legislature, which will choose a United States senator. Former Representative Edwin C. Burleigh received the Republican preferential vote for senator at the present primaries.

BULL MOOSE PARTY IS SHORT OF CASH

Financial Statement Shows Bills Exceed Receipts.

New York, Sept. 11.—The Progressive party, since it was formed on July 1 last in Chicago, has received total contributions of $55,199 and has expended $55,233, according to H. Hooker, the party's national treasurer.

Mr. Hooker's announcement was in the form of a statement which showed also that unpaid bills up to Sept. 7 amounted to $3,561.57 and obligations for rent, printing and other contracts outstanding amount to $53,124.

Of the total contributions the New York headquarters received $5,527 and Chicago headquarters were $51,652.33 and those of Chicago $3,551.08.

The two largest contributions were from George W. Perkins and Frank A. Munsey, who gave $10,000 each. George Moore of New York and Mrs. Charles B. Wood, aunt of Gifford Pinchot, each gave $5,000.

The $1,000 contributors were William Wrigley, Jr., of Chicago; W. E. Roosevelt, George E. Roosevelt, George A. Soden of Chicago and the family of Charles H. Davis of South Yarmouth, Mass. Mrs. Emilen Roosevelt gave $500 and Miss Emily T. Carew, a sister of Mrs. Theodore Roosevelt, gave $300. George P. Porter of Chicago was credited with one contribution of $700 and another of $500.

IMMENSE YIELD OF GRAIN

Department of Agriculture Estimates Present Crops.

Washington, Sept. 11.—Cereal crops of the country from present indications will reach the unprecedented total production of 133,016,000 tons, Victor H. Olmsted, chief of the department of agriculture's bureau of statistics, announced. With record breaking crops of corn, spring wheat, oats, barley, rye and buckwheat the year's harvests will be 20.2 per cent greater in weight than last year's production, 6.1 per cent greater than the big year of 1910 and 16.2 per cent greater than that of 1909.

VETERANS SING CAMP SONG

Ten Thousand Attend Forty-sixth G. A. R. Encampment.

Los Angeles, Sept. 11.—Ten thousand veterans with their wives and friends crowded Shrine auditorium to see the semi-official opening of the forty-sixth annual encampment of the Grand Army of the Republic.

When the great audience had assembled the band struck up "We Are Tenting Tonight" and all joined in singing the old campfire song. H. Z. Osborne of Los Angeles, executive director of the encampment, then relinquished his authority to Commander-in-Chief Harvey M. Trimble.

The session was devoted to addresses of welcome and responses, followed by the annual address of the commander-in-chief.

DOUBLE AVIATION FATALITY

Two More British Army Officers Fall to Death.

Oxford, Eng., Sept. 11.—Another double aviation fatality, the second within a week, occurred to members of the army flying corps when Lieutenant C. A. Bettington and Lieutenant E. Hotchkiss, both of whom had just been given commissions on probation, were killed while flying past Wolvercote.

The machine in which the officers were maneuvering had passed over Oxford and had reached a point just outside Wolvercote when the motor appeared to stop and the aeroplane fell to the ground from a height of 500 feet.

Robert G. Valentine Resigns as Indian Commissioner.

TO WORK IN MASSACHUSETTS

Retiring Official Accompanies His Resignation With a Statement Saying He Is Out of Tune With the Administration Politically and Has Decided to Join the Bull Moose Party.

Washington, Sept. 11.—Robert G. Valentine of Massachusetts, United States commissioner of Indian affairs, resigned his office in order that he may actively support the presidential candidacy of Theodore Roosevelt. Mr. Valentine's letter of resignation was forwarded to Secretary of the Interior Fisher.

It was accompanied by a statement in which Mr. Valentine set forth that he is out of tune with the administration politically and that he has decided to quit the Republican organization to join the new party.

Commissioner Valentine is the second federal officer to retire since Colonel Roosevelt was nominated by the Progressive party at Chicago. The first was Herbert Knox Smith, commissioner of corporations. He is now at the front of the Bull Moose herd in Connecticut. Mr. Valentine plans to assist the Bull Moose movement in Massachusetts.

"I am inclined to the belief that Massachusetts is good fighting ground for the Progressive cause," said Commissioner Valentine. "It is my opinion that with proper work Massachusetts can be cornered for Colonel Roosevelt. I shall do my best to assist in the attainment of that end."

In the statement outlining his political views Commissioner Valentine expressed disappointment with the Republican party. At one time he declared it appeared as if the party was about to "rehumanism" itself.

Reason for Party's Birth.

"The program of the Progressives has been pushed aside by the national leaders of the Republican party," he said, "and as the result of this denial of true progress the Progressive party has been born."

While Commissioner Valentine, in his public statement, bases his resignation on political grounds, other causes are understood to have led up to it. It is known that Mr. Valentine has been in the bad graces of the administration for many months.

The trouble was caused in large part by the action of the commissioner in issuing an order prohibiting the use of religious garb in Indian schools and missions. Complaint was made by administration leaders that Mr. Valentine issued the order aimed at religious garb without consultation with either President Taft or Secretary of the Interior Fisher.

Mr. Valentine's good faith in the matter has been attacked. It is intimated that in promulgating the anti-garb order Mr. Valentine sought to embarrass the administration.

Friends of Mr. Valentine deny that he had any ulterior motive in prohibiting religious garb in the Indian service. Commenting on his failure to confer with the president and the secretary of the interior on the subject they declare that in such matters of administration final authority is vested in the Indian commission. By direction of the president the Valentine order was suspended.

COLORADO VOTE UNCERTAIN

Primary Returns Show Democrats Are More Numerous.

Denver, Sept. 11.—Returns from Colorado's first statewide primary were so meager that the results could not be forecast with any certainty. The Democratic returns outnumber the Republican, 3 to 1.

Results indicate E. M. Ammon is leading for the Democratic nomination for governor. Clifford C. Parks, regular Republican, is leading Philip B. Stewart, Progressive Republican, for the head of the Republican ticket.

Governor John F. Shafroth is leading Alva Adams and T. J. O'Donnell for the Democratic long term senatorial nomination, while Merle D. Vincent, Progressive Republican, heads Clyde C. Dawson, regular Republican.

ROCKEFELLER MAKES SPEECH

Tells Cleveland Old Settlers He's Honored to Be One.

Cleveland, Sept. 11.—After the patriarchs in attendance upon the Old Settlers' association had discussed for an hour the infancy of Cleveland, somebody spoke up and called the attention of the gathering to the fact that John D. Rockefeller was in its midst. The richest man had made an unpretentious entrance by a side door and had sat only a few moments before his presence was observed. Mr. Rockefeller's attendance was an event, so he was called on for a speech.

"I feel it a great honor," Mr. Rockefeller said, "to be numbered among the old settlers. Until recently I couldn't think I was one of them, but having been a resident of Cleveland since 1858 I expect that by and by I shall be counted as an old settler. God bless you; goodbye."

Mrs. M. A. Billings has a store at 613 South Seventh street. She commenced business some years ago and did not want to advertise much at that time. "I want to see what I can do first before I put anything in the paper," said she. Today trade has increased so much that she is contemplating the erection of an addition 13 by 19 feet in size and a story and a half high supplied with a regular store front extending to the street.
She will add a complete line of gro-said Mrs. Billings, "and I am going to keep up with the town."

EXPLORED PREHISTORIC CAVES IN THE PYRENEES.

Professor Osborn Found Model of a Horse 20,000 Years Old.

Professor Henry Fairfield Osborn, president of the American Museum of Natural History, returned recently after a summer spent in the exploration of prehistoric caves in the Pyrenees, at Dordogne, in central France, and in northwestern Spain. He said that he had completed important arrangements which would bring to this country the best collections of anthropological exhibits of the upper paleo-lithic age that it had ever seen.

Professor Osborn made the explorations in company with a number of the leading French anthropologists, and by virtue of the agreement which he effected this country will receive first choice of the discoveries after France has taken her pick. Professor Mac-Curdy was left behind to superintend the collection and shipment of the treasures which fall to the share of the Museum of Natural History.

The caves which Professor Osborn visited have all been unearthed within the last few years, and one in particular was found only a week before his arrival in the Pyrenees. He was the first scientist to enter it after the debris of centuries had been partly cleared away by the assistants of the expedition. Forty or fifty drawings in a marvelous state of preservation were found on the walls inside.

"In some cases," Professor Osborn remarked, "these ancient works of art are chiseled in relief on the walls. At other times they are mere outline drawings, and again they are actual paintings by prehistoric artists. The colors which they used were generally three—red, black and ochre—made from oxide of manganese. In many instances they are remarkably true to life."

The prize of the whole collection, which will be exhibited in the halls of the Museum of Natural History in the not too distant future, is a carving of a horse, judged to be between 20,000 and 25,000 years old. It falls from the faroff stone age, but Professor Osborn said that not even a child would have difficulty in recognizing what species of animal it represented.

WHY CADETS WEAR GRAY.

Origin of the Uniforms Used at Wes-Point and Annapolis.

While stationed at Buffalo in the summer of 1814 General Scott wrote to the quartermaster for a supply of new clothing for the regulars. Word soon came back that blue cloth such as was used in the army could not be obtained owing to the stringency of the blockade and the embargo and the lack of manufactures in the country, but there was a sufficient quantity of gray cloth (now known as "cadet gray") in Philadelphia. Scott ordered it to be made up for his soldiers, and in those new gray suits they marched down the Niagara river, on the Canadian side in the direction of Chippewa.

It was just before the battle known by that name, which occurred early in July. General Hall, the British commander, looked upon them with contempt when preparing for battle on the morning of the 5th, for the Marquis of Tweeddale, who, with the British advance, had skirmished with them all the day before, had reported that they were only "Buffalo militia" and accounted for their fighting so well and driving him to his intrenchments north of the Chippewa river by the fact that it was the anniversary of American independence that stimulated them.

On account of the victory won at Chippewa on that day, chiefly by these soldiers in gray, and in honor of Scott and the troops that style of cloth was adopted at the Military academy at West Point as the uniform of the cadets.—New York Press.

HOW TO BE GREAT—PLAY.

College President Lauds Athletics as Educational Agency.

Not the bookworm who is near-sighted nor the student who plugs long past the midnight hour becomes the great man of our nation, said President E. B. Bryan of Colgate university, but the man who is prominent in athletics. Dr. Bryan said:

"It is the hero of the baseball diamond, the gridiron and the track who performs the heavy and serious tasks that will confront him in life. God has written in his own hand, 'Thou shalt play.' Play is the greatest educational agency we have today. It promotes initiative and teaches self sacrifice and implicit obedience to the laws of our country. It makes the youth upright and honest. The diamond and the gridiron are the molders of the great men of our country."

Saw the Finish.

Little Elmer—Mamma, I saw a man down at the blacksmith's shop making a horse. Mamma—You must be mistaken, Elmer. Little Elmer—No, I'm not, mamma. He had the horse nearly finished when I came by. He was just nailing on the feet.—Chicago

Thirty thousand voices—what a grand chorus! And that's the number of American men and women who are publicly praising Doan's Kidney Pills for relief from backache, kidney and bladder ills. They say it to friends. They tell it in the home papers. Brainerd people are in this chorus. Here's a Brainerd case.

Mrs. J. H. Zellers, 913 Main St., Brainerd, Minn., says: "I never tire of recommending Doan's Kidney Pills, for they have been so beneficial to me. Some years ago I publicly endorsed them and at this time I am willing to do so again. I took Doan's Kidney Pills procured at H.
P. Dunn's drug store when I was afflicted with kidney complaint and they gave me prompt relief. One of my relatives who also suffered from kidney trouble, used this remedy with the best results."

WHY CADETS WEAR GRAY.

Origin of the Uniforms Used at West Point and Annapolis.

While stationed at Buffalo in the summer of 1814 General Scott wrote to the quartermaster for a supply of new clothing for the regulars. Word soon came back that blue cloth such as was used in the army could not be obtained owing to the stringency of the blockade and the embargo and the lack of manufactures in the country, but there was a sufficient quantity of gray cloth (now known as "cadet gray") in Philadelphia. Scott ordered it to be made up for his soldiers, and in these new gray suits they marched down the Niagara river, on the Canadian side in the direction of Chippewa.

It was just before the battle known by that name, which occurred early in July. General Hall, the British commander, looked upon them with contempt when preparing for battle on the morning of the 5th, for the Marquis of Tweeddale, who, with the British advance, had skirmished with them all the day before, had reported that they were only "Buffalo militia" and accounted for their fighting so well and driving him to his intrenchments north of the Chippewa river by the fact that it was the anniversary of American independence that stimulated them.

On account of the victory won at Chippewa on that day, chiefly by these soldiers in gray, and in honor of Scott and the troops that style of cloth was adopted at the Military academy at West Point as the uniform of the cadets.—New York Press.

HOW TO BE GREAT—PLAY.

College President Lauds Athletics as Educational Agency.

Not the bookworm who is near-sighted nor the student who plugs long past the midnight hour becomes the great man of our nation, said President E. B. Bryan of Colgate university, but the man who is prominent in athletics. Dr. Bryan said:

"It is the hero of the baseball diamond, the gridiron and the track who performs the heavy and serious tasks that will confront him in life. God has written in his own hand, 'Thou shalt play.' Play is the greatest educational agency we have today. It promotes initiative and teaches self sacrifice and implicit obedience to the laws of our country. It makes the youth upright and honest. The diamond and the gridiron are the molders of the great men of our country."

Saw the Finish.

Little Elmer—Mamma, I saw a man down at the blacksmith's shop making a horse. Mamma—You must be mistaken, Elmer. Little Elmer—No, I'm not, mamma. He had the horse nearly finished when I came by. He was just nailing on the feet.—Chicago News.

And Many are the Voices of Brainerd People

Thirty thousand voices—what a grand chorus! And that's the number of American men and women who are publicly praising Doan's Kidney Pills for relief from backache, kidney and bladder ills. They say it to friends. They tell it in the home papers. Brainerd people are in this chorus. Here's a Brainerd case.

Mrs. J. H. Zellers, 913 Main St., Brainerd, Minn., says: "I never tire of recommending Doan's Kidney Pills, for they have been so beneficial to me. Some years ago I publicly endorsed them and at this time I am willing to do so again. I took Doan's Kidney Pills procured at H. P. Dunn's drug store when I was afflicted with kidney complaint and they gave me prompt relief. One of my relatives who also suffered from kidney trouble, used this remedy with the best results."

SK LADIES TO MEET IN BRAINERD

James Patek, LaBar and Frederick to Extend Invitation to Womens' Clubs of State

HALF LADIES MUSICAL CLUB

Hold Their 1913 Convention in Brainerd—Commercial Club Will Co-operate

A called meeting of the Brainerd Musical club Tuesday evening, it decided to invite the State Federation of Womens' Clubs to come to Brainerd for its 1913 meeting. Mrs. C. M. Patek, Mrs. George D. LaBar and Mrs. J. L. Frederick were delegates to represent the local club at the federation meeting this fall at Dodge Center, and to extend this invitation, which, if accepted, will bring to Brainerd next fall for a stay of three days one or more members from every woman's club in the state belonging to the federation.

Such enthusiasm and civic loyalty shown by the members present in discussing plans for the entertainment of these guests, and the club, by its energy and enthusiasm, to make the occasion a delightful and memorable one for its home as well as for the visitors.

The increasing strength of the club in the coming year is already shown by the addition of fifteen new members.

Last night's session of the Commercial club, that organization, on Monday, agreed to also invite the convention to meet in Brainerd. Mayor H. P. Dunn has also expressed his hearty co-operation in the matter and will bring the idea of a convention to the attention of the council.

Store of Zacharias Framling, East Oak street, now carries a stock of groceries, etc. A new generator and computing scale recently been added.

The Erickson clothing store on East Oak street has done a prosperous business during the year and consider that all indications point to a continuance of prosperity in the whole country.

Alter Northrup, the letter carrier erecting a story and a half house at 1720 Laurel street to replace the home which was recently destroyed by fire. The building is nearly nearing completion.

O. Anderson, 1202 East Oak street, has erected a large two story house with all modern conveniences. His home is a very pretty one and has a beautiful porch. Cement walks have recently been completed on the grounds.

J. Shanks, of Diamond Bluff, arrived in the city yesterday to attend the funeral of his brother, the Samuel P. Shanks. Mr. Michael Shanks, of the same city, a daughter deceased, also attended the funeral yesterday.

Henry Moilanen is conducting the grocery store at 1224 East Oak street formerly belonging to August Hall. Mr. Moilanen's trade is increasing rapidly. Frank A. Ylinen, the name of his new clerk. Mr. Moilanen is buying considerable pork in the shape of butter and eggs from the farmers.

Indications point to a big boom in southeast Brainerd realty when iron mines of Judge G. W. Holm commence operation near South street within the city limits. Mine, the Kennedy, built up the town of Cuyuna. That mine now employs 350 men. The same thing happens in Brainerd.

Erikson and Erickson report a good and satisfactory trade. Their growth is best evidenced by the large brick building which the firm occupies and whose construction was rendered necessary in order to care for their constantly increasing trade. They have placed a new scale on south 13th street near their store and it has been in operation since last week. Many farmers weigh their hay and potatoes here.

The handsome residence which Mike Setula has erected on East Oak street near the Northern Pacific tracks is one of the finest residences in Southeast Brainerd. It is equipped with hardwood floors, water, electric light, hot air furnace, bath room and other conveniences. It has a porch on each floor. The building is two stories in height and has six or more rooms. It rests on a cement foundation which provides a basement under the whole house.

A walk down East Oak street will prove a revelation to a man who has not visited that section for a year or so. Clean, well kept lawns; pretty houses newly painted and kept in first class condition; new residences; the improvements made to many stores; the clean street, all these impress a man. Southeast Brainerd is essentially a section of homes, happy children and satisfied parents. In no other part of Brainerd will you find a street on which so many people own their homes.

Charles F. Hukari has a store at 1207 East Oak street and business has been the best during the year.

The Scandinavian Co-operative Mercantile Co. is one of the big commercial institutions of Southeast Brainerd. The store is located at 1301 Norwood street. Ralph F. Peterson is the manager of the store and A. L. Peterson is the president. J. A. Erickson secretary and treasurer of the association. Their trade is not confined to Southeast Brainerd alone but extends to other sections of the city.

John Stenberg, 1223 East Oak St., has largely increased his stock in shoes and clothing. Mr. Stenberg commenced business in a small way and through industry, integrity in dealing and extreme energy he has expanded his business until he now occupies the first floor of a large two story building that he erected and has 20 times as much floor space as when he first started in Brainerd. Mr. Stenberg is a firm believer in the growth of Brainerd and is sure that the expansion of the iron industry will make Brainerd as big as Duluth.

STORIES OF TOWN

"What is Optimism?" Asked a Man and a Candidate Told Him—Other Notes

In going about town a man asked one of the 34 candidates running for county office to define the word "optimism."

"Optimism," said the man who was distributing cards, circulars and eulogies of himself, "optimism is the feeling which pervades every candidate before election."

"I always read the locals of the Dispatch first," said a lady.

"Why do you do that?" was asked.

"Well, it's probably for the same reason that a woman likes a short story better than a long one."

"In speaking of things which Brainerd lacked, one lady said that not a single woman in Brainerd had publicly expressed herself in favor of woman's suffrage. Brainerd is remarkable for the number of women who are large tax payers in this city. They furnish the sinews which carry on the government of the city and the only voting they may do is at a school election.

"The story I am telling you now," said a lady to the news gatherer, "is true if the man who told it to me is no romancer."

"Was he a married man?"

"Yes."

"Well, then we shall have to take it with a grain of salt."

"MINNESOTA'S MIGHTY MAN"

Is What Saturday Evening Post Terms Fred Lynch in "Who's Who" Series

GULL LAKE IS MENTIONED

"Lynch is an Organizer, a Strategist and a Leader" Says the Post in Article

The Saturday Evening Post of recent date contains an article on F. B. Lynch and describes Lynch as "Minnesota's mighty man." A very good picture of Lynch is published. On the page devoted to "Who's Who and Why" the writer of the Post gives a short history of the various activities of Mr. Lynch and especially the prominent part he took in advancing the candidacy of Woodrow Wilson. It mentions also how he brought the late John A. Johnson into the lime light.

"Lynch is big mentally as well as physically. He knows the country between St. Paul and the Pacific coast intimately; and there might be stranger things, in case Wilson is elected, than Lynch as secretary of the interior. He has two fads—one is automobiles and the other is poetry. Lynch has a ninety-horsepower machine, which he drives himself, and he drives it to its full capacity. Otherwise his delight is reading poetry, and he can recite it by the yard—and will, unless you stop him. Once it was reported he wrote poetry, but nobody has been able to prove it on him.

"In the fall he goes up into the woods and hunts big game, and in the summer he keeps down his flesh by pitching hay and chopping trees, and doing other work on his farm at Gull Lake, where his family spends the summer. He is a wallflower of a man, with great, square shoulders, great height, and arms and hands and legs in large proportion. Also, he has a great, hearty laugh, a pleasant disposition, and is personally about the most popular man in Minnesota.

"Lynch unquestionably has political acumen of a high order. He is an organizer, a strategist, a leader. He is sane, discreet and practical, but he tolerates no corruption in politics. He plays the game with all his cards above the table, fights in the open, and all his blows are fair. He can take a licking, too, and has taken many of them like a good sportsman; and he is modest and decent, and red-blooded and two-fisted. Also he is one of the democrats of this country, and if so be Mr. Wilson is elected president Frederick B. Lynch is likely to be a much bigger democrat than he is even at the present time."

Smith-Warwick

Wilbur Alfred Smith of Brainerd, and Miss Alice Warwick of Jenkins, were married Tuesday afternoon at one o'clock, September 10 at the home of the groom's parents, Mr. and Mrs. George J. Smith, 219 Fourth avenue, Northeast, the ceremony being performed by Rev. A. Zabel.

The bride was attired in a pretty gown of embroidered white voile and she carried a large bouquet of roses. She was attended by her sister, Miss Louise Smith, dressed in lavender and also carrying flowers. The groom's best man was Isaac Congdon.

The wedding was witnessed by relatives and intimate friends of the family. A sumptuous dinner was served and was enjoyed by those present. The happy couple took the afternoon train to Jenkins where a reception was given in their honor at the Union church last evening.

Mr. Smith is a popular young man and is a freeman on the Minnesota & International railway. His bride enjoys a large circle of acquaintances at her home and in Brainerd. They will make their home at 608 Oak street, Northeast Brainerd. The Dispatch joins their many friends in wishing them much happiness and prosperity.

Stuck-Rasmussen

Oscar Louis Stuck and Miss Clara Theresa Rasmussen were married at the home of the bride's mother, Mrs. Julia Rasmussen, in Long Lake township on Tuesday noon, September 10. Rev. Elov Carlson, pastor of the Swedish Lutheran church of Brainerd, officiating.

The bride who was attended by her sister, was gownned in a dress of blue and carried a large bouquet of flowers. The groom was attended by his brother. The ceremony was witnessed only by relatives and intimate friends of the contracting parties. A sumptuous wedding dinner was served and was enjoyed by the many present. The couple will live on the farm of the groom situated in the same township. The Dispatch joins their many friends in wishing them all possible happiness and prosperity.

Mid Week Services

The regular mid-week service will be held in the First Congregational church Thursday evening at 7:30 p. m. The service this week will be a preparatory service for the communion which will be administered next Sunday at the morning service. A large attendance is requested. Rev. G. Phil. Sheridan, minister.

COMMERCIAL CLUB

Has a Meeting Last Evening Devoted to the Consideration of Roads, State Fair, Etc.

About 20 members attended the Commercial club meeting last evening. A communication was received from the Ladies Musical club asking the Commercial club to invite the State Federation of Womens' clubs to Brainerd to hold their 1913 convention here. The club acted favorably on the communication.

A report was made on affairs at Itasca State park. It appears that several private owners of land within the park have been cutting down their timber and that this has marred the beauty of the park in such places. No one can stop such owners from cutting timber, but the land could be bought by the state. The matter was referred to the legislative committee to investigate promptly before the next legislature meets.

Prof. J. A. Wilson gave a verbal report on the Crow Wing county exhibit at the state fair.

South Sixth street from the paved portion to the city limits was reported to need attention and the matter was referred to the good roads committee to see that the surface was re-dressed.

MANGANESE ON CUYUNA

The Deposits of Rare Ore Attract the Attention of Prominent Furnace Men

THREE MINES FIND MANGANESE

The Highest Grade of Manganese Found on the Cuyuna Range Assayed 56 Per Cent

That the Cuyuna range boasts of the only known manganese ore deposits of any extent in America is slowly being forced upon the attention of the iron mining and furnace interests of the country.

Within the past few weeks engineers, agents and buyers who specialize in manganese ore have visited Duluth and made inquiries, and the manganese deposits of the Cuyuna promise to attract not only national but world-wide interest, for there have been inquiries regarding them from London and Germany.

Manganiferous iron ores consist of a mixture of iron and manganese oxides in varying proportions. The iron is generally in the form of hematite, in some regions, though in the Lake Superior district it occurs as hematite.

The manganese and iron oxides may occur together as a coarse mixture that separates easily or they may be so closely associated as to be indistinguishable to the eye. In most deposits where the individual oxides may be recognized, the manganese seems to have penetrated the mass, while the iron is nearer the surface. In some iron ore deposits there are portions in which pockets of manganese ore occur, while the rest of the deposit may be pure iron ore.

The amount of metallic manganese in manganiferous iron ore varies from less than 1 per cent to 40 per cent or more.

In 1910 the total production of manganese ore in the United States was but 25,000 tons, in spite of the big demand for it, so it may be readily seen that the Cuyuna range has the only deposit of any extent in this country.

Manganese ore has many uses, and the market for it is steadily growing and widening. It is used for many chemical purposes, chiefly for making chlorine. It is used as an alloy in making glass, but its chief use is for making ferromanganese. When mixed with other iron ore it produces a much harder steel, which is used for armor plate, or for producing especially heavy steel rails. The only factor that has restricted its use has been its scarcity. The United States has had to import the greater part of the manganese used in this country. The imports for 1910 were 244,348 long tons. This manganese came chiefly from India, Brazil and Russia.

Its scarcity is reflected in its high price. Manganese running 49 per cent or better, for example, is quoted at 26 cents per unit per ton. This would make a ton of 50 per cent manganese ore worth $13. With hematite ore selling for from $3 to $4 for the high grades, it will be seen that the manganese ore running 40 per cent or better is worth three or four or five times as much as high grade hematite.

The highest grade manganese yet found on the Cuyuna assayed 56 per cent. The majority of the samples have been running from 30 to 50 per cent, but it is merchantable even much below the former grade, where the silica and phosphorous do not run high.

The Cuyuna deposits have hardly been scratched yet, it is thought. The chief deposits have been found on the Iron Mountain and Cuyuna-Mille Lacs properties, with a trace in the Cuyuna-Duluth. Other strikes may have been made, but they have not been made public. Apparently there are large deposits on both properties, and both companies are now mining the ore.—Duluth Herald.

"MINNESOTA'S MIGHTY MAN"

Is What Saturday Evening Post Terms Fred Lynch in "Who's Who" Series

GULL LAKE IS MENTIONED

"Lynch is an Organizer, a Strategist and a Leader" Says the Post in Article

The Saturday Evening Post of recent date contains an article on F. B. Lynch and describes Lynch as "Minnesota's mighty man." A very good picture of Lynch is published.

On the page devoted to "Who's Who and Why" the writer of the Post gives a short history of the various activities of Mr. Lynch and especially the prominent part he took in advancing the candidacy of Woodrow Wilson. It mentions also how he brought the late John A. Johnson into the lime light.

"Lynch is big mentally as well as physically. He knows the country between St. Paul and the Pacific coast intimately; and there might be stranger things, in case Wilson is elected, than Lynch as secretary of the interior. He has two fads—one is automobiles and the other is poetry. Lynch has a ninety-horsepower machine, which he drives himself, and he drives it to its full capacity. Otherwise his delight is reading poetry, and he can recite it by the yard—and will, unless you stop him. Once it was reported he wrote poetry, but nobody has been able to prove it on him.

"In the fall he goes up into the woods and hunts big game, and in the summer he keeps down his flesh by pitching hay and chopping trees, and doing other work on his farm at Gull lake, where his family spends the summer. He is a wallower of a man, with great, square shoulders, great height, and arms and hands and legs in large proportion. Also, he has a great, hearty laugh, a pleasant disposition, and is personally about the most popular man in Minnesota.

"Lynch unquestionably has political acumen of a high order. He is an organizer, a strategist, a leader. He is sane, discreet and practical, but he tolerates no corruption in politics. He plays the game with all his cards above the table, fights in the open, and all his blows are fair. He can take a licking, too, and has taken many of them like a good sportsman; and he is modest and decent, and red-blooded and two-fisted. Also he is one of the democrats of this country, and so be Mr. Wilson is elected president Frederick B. Lynch is likely to be a much bigger democrat than he is even at the present time."

Smith-Warwick

Wilbur Alfred Smith of Brainerd, and Miss Alice Warwick of Jenkins, were married Tuesday afternoon at one o'clock, September 10 at the home of the groom's parents, Mr. and Mrs. George J. Smith, 219 Fourth avenue, Northeast, the ceremony being performed by Rev. A. Zabel.

The bride was attired in a pretty gown of embroidered white voile and she carried a large bouquet of roses. She was attended by her sister, Miss Louise Smith, dressed in lavender and also carrying flowers. The groom's best man was Isaac Congoan.

The wedding was witnessed by relatives and intimate friends of the family. A sumptuous dinner was served and was enjoyed by those present. The happy couple took the afternoon train to Jenkins where a reception was given in their honor at the Union church last evening.

Mr. Smith is a popular young man and is a fireman on the Minnesota & International railway. His bride enjoys a large circle of acquaintances at her home and in Brainerd. They will make their home at 608 Oak street, Northeast Brainerd. The Dispatch joins their many friends in wishing them much happiness and prosperity.

Stuck-Rasmussen

Oscar Louis Stuck and Miss Clara Theresa Rasmussen were married at the home of the bride's mother, Mrs. Julia Rasmussen, in Long Lake township on Tuesday noon, September 10, Rev. Eloff Carlson, pastor of the Swedish Lutheran church of Brainerd, officiating.

The bride who was attended by her sister, was gowned in a dress of blue and carried a large bouquet of flowers. The groom was attended by his brother. The ceremony was witnessed only by relatives and intimate friends of the contracting parties. A sumptuous wedding dinner was served and was enjoyed by the many present. The couple will live on the farm of the groom situated in the same township. The Dispatch joins their many friends in wishing them all possible happiness and prosperity.

Mid Week Services

The regular mid-week service will be held in the First Congregational church Thursday evening at 7:30 p. m. The service this week will be a preparatory service for the communion which will be administered next Sunday at the morning service. A large attendance is requested. Rev. G. Phil. Sheridan, minister.

COMMERCIAL CLUB

Has a Meeting Last Evening Devoted to the Consideration of Roads, State Fair, Etc.

About 20 members attended the Commercial club meeting last evening. A communication was received from the Ladies Musical club asking the Commercial club to invite the State Federation of Womens' Clubs to Brainerd to hold their 1913 convention here. The club acted favorably on the communication.

A report was made on affairs at Itasca State park. It appears that several private owners of land within the park have been cutting down their timber and that this has marred the beauty of the park in such places. No one can stop such owners from cutting timber, but the land could be bought by the state. The matter was referred to the legislative committee to investigate promptly before the next legislature meets.

Prof. J. A. Wilson gave a verbal report on the Crow Wing county exhibit at the state fair.

South Sixth street from the paved portion to the city limits was reported to need attention and the matter was referred to the good roads committee to see that the surface was re-dressed.

MANGANESE ON CUYUNA

The Deposits of Rare Ore Attract the Attention of Prominent Furnace Men

THREE MINES FIND MANGANESE

The Highest Grade of Manganese Found on the Cuyuna Range Assayed 56 Per Cent

That the Cuyuna range boasts of the only known manganese ore deposits of any extent in America is slowly being forced upon the attention of the iron mining and furnace interests of the country.

Within the past few weeks engineers, agents and buyers who specialize in manganese ore have visited Duluth and made inquiries, and the manganese deposits of the Cuyuna promise to attract not only national but world-wide interest, for there have been inquiries regarding them from London and Germany.

Manganiferous iron ores consist of a mixture of iron and manganese oxides in varying proportions. The iron is generally in the form of limonite, in some regions, though in the Lake Superior district it occurs as hematite.

The manganese and iron oxides may occur together as a coarse mixture that separates easily or they may be so closely associated as to be indistinguishable to the eye. In most deposits where the individual oxides may be recognized, the manganese seems to have penetrated the mass, while the iron is nearer the surface. In some iron ore pockets there are portions in which deposits of manganese ore occur, while the rest of the deposit may be pure iron ore.

The amount of metallic manganese in manganiferous iron ore varies from less than 1 per cent to 40 per cent or more.

In 1910 the total production of manganese ore in the United States was but 25,000 tons, in spite of the big demand for it, so it may be readily seen that the Cuyuna range has the only deposit of any extent in this country.

Manganese ore has many uses, and the market for it is steadily growing and widening. It is used for many chemical purposes, chiefly for making chlorine. It is used as an alloy in making glass, but its chief use is for making ferromanganese. When mixed with other iron ore it produces a much harder steel, which is used for armor plate, or for producing especially heavy steel rails. The only factor that has restricted its use has been its scarcity. The United States has had to import the greater part of the manganese used in this country. The imports for 1910 were 244,348 long tons. This manganese came chiefly from India, Brazil and Russia.

Its scarcity is reflected in its high price. Manganese running 49 per cent or better, for example, is quoted at 26 cents per unit per ton. This would make a ton of 50 per cent manganese ore worth $13. With hematite ore selling for from $3 to $4 for the high grades, it will be seen that the manganese ore running 49 per cent or better is worth three or four or five times as much as high grade hematite.

The highest grade manganese yet found on the Cuyuna assayed 56 per cent. The majority of the samples have been running from 30 to 50 per cent, but it is merchantable even much below the former grade, where the silica and phosphorous do not run high.

The Cuyuna deposits have hardly been scratched yet, it is thought. The chief deposits have been found on the Iron Mountain and Cuyuna-Mille Laacs properties, with a trace in the Cuyuna-Duluth. Other strikes may have been made, but they have not been made public. Apparently there are large deposits on both properties, and both companies are now mining the ore.—Duluth Herald.

TO REPORT SEPT. 15

Bush to be Turned Over to Connie Mack of the Philadelphia Athletics at Chicago

Scores of fans have been watching every train running into Brainerd looking for Bush and his non-appearance is now explained. On September 8 Bush and Zamloch pitched in the double-header against Helena at Helena and, sorry to say, each was trimmed by the tailenders of the Union association.

In the notes of the games, Ferguson of the Daily Missoulian says: "Bush's farewell appearance are frequent, but we reckon he's done now." "Leslie Bush will report to Philadelphia at Chicago, September 15. Connie Mack switched the date by a telegram to Blankenhip. Bush will leave Missoula Thursday (Sept. 12.)

"Bill Steinbrenner is back from the east, where he saw a lot of baseball, including a game between Detroit and Philadelphia. He says that the official score cards wear the names of Bush and Zamloch, in the lists of pitchers. Also, Bill brought back one of the cards, as he didn't want to Dr. Cook it."

MADE ALL FRANCE LAUGH.

The Political Fight Between Dumas and Paul de Kock.

When Dumas pere opposed Paul de Kock for the representation of a Paris arrondissement the historic campaign convulsed the whole of France. Dumas' address was very brief. Substantially it ran:

"I have written 400 volumes and thirty-five plays. The books have brought in 11,453,000 francs and the dramas 6,300,000 francs. My work and my success have kept 2,500 people alive for thirty years."

Paul de Kock was more than equal to the occasion in his reply:

"I have kept many more people alive. My sixty-three novels have brought in 63,000,000 francs. I live in the Boulevard St. Martin. From 5 to 6 o'clock in the afternoon I sit at my window watching the cocoanut vendors pass. All France knows it. So not a visitor comes to Paris without writing in his notebook that he must not forget to go and see Paul de Kock at his window watching the cocoanut sellers. Each of them naturally takes the omnibus to get to the Boulevard St. Martin—three-pence; afterward, the omnibus again—another three-pence. Twenty thousand sixpences a year for twenty years! To the omnibus company alone I have brought £10,000. I pass over the Russian princesses who have been so eager to see me that they have not shrunk from the expense of a cab."—London Graphic.

The Lady or the Tiger.

Somebody told Henpeck the story of the lady and the tiger, describing vividly how the poor lover stood trembling before the door of the cage, wondering whether his fiancée would choose to surrender him to another woman or hand him over to the jaws of the tiger.

"Tooh!" commented Henpeck. "That's how it is with me at home. Every time I go in the gate I never know whether I'm going to meet a lady or a tiger."

An Old Time Sweet Perfume.

An ancient recipe for making a sweet perfume for the ladies runs as follows: Take storax, calumet and benjamin of each half an ounce, ladanum one ounce, musk two grains, and put them together in a fair brass mortar, where you must first warm so hot in the fire that with the heat thereof and beating with a little pestle it may work like wax, which, being thoroughly wrought, you may make it in little cakes or balls and so lay it up.

His Natural Death.

A clerk who acted as accountant to a London firm was charged by the head of the firm with embezzlement. He admitted his guilt and went home and cut his throat. The wound was not immediately fatal, but caused an abscess, from which he died afterward in hospital. The jury summoned to the inquest returned the amazing verdict of "death from natural causes."—London Mail.

The Greatest Singer.

Probably the most remarkable singer of all time was Farinelli, the beauty of whose soprano voice remains unequalled. It was of large compass, three and a half octaves, exceeding the ordinary range by six or seven notes. His debut at seventeen in Rome in 1722 was extraordinary from his competing with a trumpet player in sustaining and swelling a note of astonishing length and power. For fifteen years he traveled extensively, and he reached Spain in 1737, intending to stay a few months, but remaining twenty-five years. Philip V. of Spain had fallen into a profound melancholy, and the queen found Farinelli's voice the only remedy.

Minerals That We Waste Annually

Director of Bureau of Mines Describes Some of the Losses.

Conservation Would Save Millions of Dollars to the People.

DURING the last year in producing half a billion tons of coal we wasted or left underground in such condition that it probably will not be recovered in the future a quarter of a billion tons of coal; we turned loose into the atmosphere a quantity of natural gas larger than the total output of artificial gas during the same period in all the towns and cities of the United States; we also wasted or lost in mining, preparation and treatment of other important metalliferous and non-metalliferous minerals from 10 to 50 per cent of the year's production of such minerals.

The above is the startling manner in which Dr. Joseph A. Holmes, director of the United States bureau of mines, describes some of the losses in the yearly production of $2,000,000,000 worth of minerals in the United States.

The words of the director are a general summing up of a statement just issued by the bureau, in which an inventory of the various mineral wastes is given and in which the bureau shows how millions and millions of dollars may be saved to the people of this country through the right sort of conservation of its resources.

Valuable Deposits Lying Idle.

The general statement, written by Charles L. Parsons, chief mineral chemist of the bureau, contains the charge that many valuable mineral deposits are lying idle, while the products are being imported from other countries. Mr. Parsons further declares that through wasteful use of certain of the minerals the ultimate exhaustion and dissipation of some of the important useful minerals of today, from the standpoint of the race and in the light of present knowledge, are in sight. He urges that many deposits of ores of such low grade that they cannot be mined today should be left in position so that they can be mined in the future, as many ores, formerly of too low a grade to work with profit, are now sources of wealth. The wastes of the past are daily being converted into the dividends of the present, he declares.

In referring to the waste in the mining and use of coal Mr. Parsons says: "The wastes of carbon in our modern economy are almost incomprehensible. In mining coal in this country probably one-third of the bituminous coal and one-half of the anthracite are left in the mine. Fully 80,000,000 tons of anthracite are now being left behind in the mine each year, and it is estimated that since mining began in this country fully 2,000,000,000 tons of anthracite and 3,000,000,000 tons of bituminous coal have been left in the ground under conditions which make future recovery highly improbable.

"After coal is mined the losses by no means cease, although some of the culm that formerly went to waste by millions of tons is now being used. Probably not over 11 per cent of the energy in coal is being effectively utilized. The remainder of the energy is lost through the inefficiency of the steam boiler, the steam engine and the electric dynamo.

Boiler Efficiency.

"It is estimated that the boiler scale in locomotives alone in this country means a loss of over 15,000,000 tons of coal annually. It has been shown that one-sixteenth of an inch of scale means a loss of 25 per cent in boiler efficiency. The scientific control of the combustion of coal under boilers is constantly increasing, but the losses of carbon that is still pouring from our chimneys, defacing monuments, buildings and landscape, are without valid reason."

Mr. Parsons says that the losses in the making of coke by the old fashioned process wasted $40,000,000 in the United States last year. He calls this an entirely needless and seemingly ruthless loss. He declares that these coke ovens, without taking into account the value of the byproducts that were possible, wasted more than 1,000,000 horsepower in the year. All this loss might be prevented by the use of modern methods, he says.

"The dust from stacks and chimneys of all kinds," says Mr. Parsons, "is often not only a great waste of valuable material, but is one of the great evils of modern civilization. Valuable metalliferous dusts are strewn broadcast from the stacks of our smelters, gas and poisonous solids destroy vegetable and animal life, and masses of black smoke pour from our chimneys and settle in clouds over many of our cities, rendering them exceedingly disagreeable and unsightly. Even with present knowledge practically all dust nuisances are preventable, and legislation the country over is diminishing the dust output from smelters, cement plants and smoking chimneys, often with the result that the collection of dust incident to smoke prevention becomes a source of profit.

"Almost inestimable losses of sulphur, arsenic and bismuth are now taking place in the flue dusts and flue gases.

"In proportion to output the losses of zinc are probably greater than those of any other metal and are especially important because there is almost no recovery of zinc from manufactured products and almost no conservation of zinc by accumulation. Besides these losses in the mining and concentration of zinc ores, there are incalculable losses, which without question run into many millions of dollars and undoubtedly exceed the total value of the zinc mined, in slags and waste products from other processes. Zinc has been and in general still is considered about the worst impurity to be found in the ores of copper and lead, for it has always given trouble in their metallurgy. "In combined but unfortunately in relatively insoluble form there are unlimited supplies of potash in this country. Because no methods are known for economically obtaining the potash we are obliged to import from Germany about $15,000,000 worth each year. Potash is absolutely essential, and unless methods can be found for obtaining it from domestic supplies we shall be obliged to purchase it from Germany at a price at least 400 per cent more than the cost of delivery in New York.

Waste of Nitrogen.

"Our waste of nitrogen, worth in combined form about 15 cents per pound, is almost inconceivable, and no calculation can give us a real idea of what this loss means. Although we produced last year over 400,000,000 tons of bituminous coal, we recovered only $3,800,000 worth of the $160,000,000 worth of recoverable nitrogen in the coal.

"Of course it is entirely impracticable under present conditions to recover as ammonia all of the nitrogen that might be obtained, but it does seem most regrettable that of 63,000,000 tons of coal converted into coke in 1910, containing $22,000,000 worth of recoverable nitrogen, only about one-sixth was treated in ovens or retorts which could make that recovery possible. The rest of the nitrogen in the coal went off as free nitrogen in the air.

"It is estimated that since the first by-product coke oven was built in this country in 1893 and up to the present time the coke coked in the old fashioned beehive ovens where the nitrogen was ruthlessly wasted in fire has amounted to about $10,000,000 tons. Had this been coked in by-product ovens the volatile nitrogen of the coal would have yielded twenty-three pounds of ammonium sulphate per ton, or a total of 9,315,000 tons, which at $60 a ton would have had a value of $558,900,000. But this would not be all. Had this ammonia been recovered it would have been used on the soil as a fertilizer, and the crops would have increased fully 20 per cent, and the saving would have been many millions more.

Facts as Regards Sulphur.

"The waste and the utilization of sulphur are both enormous and depend largely on local conditions. We produce sulphur cheaper than any other country in the world, sell it at perhaps the highest price and in the form of sulphur dioxide discharge it in the air from the stack of a single smelter in quantities almost as large as those utilized throughout the country from sulphur and domestic pyrite put together. If the sulphur discharged into the air from this one smelter were converted into sulphuric acid it would furnish more than enough sulphuric acid for the total fertilizer industry of the United States.

"This country is producing annually about 3,000,000 tons of sulphuric acid—the basis of all chemical industry—of which approximately one-half is used in the manufacture of fertilizers. The total amount of sulphur dioxide discharged into the air in this country would unquestionably suffice to make more than 8,000,000 tons of sulphuric acid."

BRIDE ARRESTED AT ALTAR.

Wealthy Husband Disowns Her When He Hears Forgery Charge.

As she was leaving the First Baptist church of Perth Amboy, N. J., after her marriage Mrs. Mary Pfeiffer King was arrested on a charge of forgery. The complainant was the treasurer of the Perth Amboy Savings Institution, who accused the woman of obtaining $100 on a forged order.

According to Seaman, the woman, who until her marriage was Miss Mary Pfeiffer, presented an order which was purported to be signed by Anthony Haberkorn, whose wife she represented herself to be. She said after her arrest that she wanted the money to purchase the trousseau for her wedding. When her husband, Paul King, a wealthy resident of South Amboy, heard the charge against his bride he disowned her and refused to bail her out. Without his assistance she was unable to obtain a bondsman and was committed for examination in default of $1,000. King is sixty-five years old, while his bride is only thirty-five.

Antiquity of Gloves.

How early did mankind think of the convenience of the fingerless glove? Little was said of gloves in ancient times, but in most cases it is obvious that they had fingers. Those worn by the secretary of the younger Pliny, used when he visited Vesuvius, so that he might keep on jotting down notes in spite of the cold, must have been fingered, no less than those of the glutton in Antinous, who wore gloves at table so that he might handle the meat while hot and get in advance of his bare handed fellow diners.

Biggest Bull Moose Head.

The biggest bull moose head in the world, not excepting the collection recently gathered in Chicago, is in the possession of John F. Bible of Hopkinsville, Ky. The moose weighed 2,350 pounds and stood seven feet and a half high. Official sporting records show this is the largest head in preservation.

BABY IS BORN WITH INITIALS IN HIS EYES.

Was Named In Advance and "J" and "D" Are Printed in Retinas.

Physicians at the Jefferson Medical college, Philadelphia, are attempting to explain the phenomenon of initials continually mirrored in the retina of the eyes of two-year-old John Dugan of that city.

Mirrored in his eyes are two distinct letters of typographical design, each a quarter of an inch high. They are the initials of the name decided upon by the boy's parents before he was born. That name was John Dugan, the name the boy now bears. In the middle of John's right eye, as if imbedded in the iris by the hand of a fanatic master surgeon, is the print of the type "J." In the left eye is similarly set his other initial, "D."

John Dugan was expectantly awaited by his parents, and they decided upon his name before he was born. He is now more than two years old, and the initials are still there. They are even more plainly visible than they were when John was born. The child's eyesight is perfect and his health robust. His mind and conduct are normal.

Fish For the Brain.

Replying to a "Young Author," Mark Twain wrote: "Yes, Agassiz does recommend authors to eat fish because the phosphorus in it makes brains. So far you are correct. But I cannot help you to a decision about the amount you need to eat—at least, not with certainty. If the specimen composition you sent is about your fair usual average I should judge that a couple of whales would be all you would want for the present—not the largest kind, but simply good, middle sized whales."

A Dog Pepys Saw.

On Sept. 11, 1661, Mr. Pepys made this entry: "To Dr. Williams, who did carry me into his garden, where he hath abundance of grapes, and he did show me a dog that he hath to kill all the cats that come thither to kill his pigeons, and do afterwards bury them and do it with so much care that they shall be quite covered; that if the tip of the tail hangs out he will take up the cat again and dig the hole deeper. Which is very strange, and he tells me that he do believe that he hath killed above 100 cats."

The Adirondack Lakes.

One of the most striking phenomena of the Adirondack region is the carrying power of the human voice in the weather upon the lakes great and small. Persons ashore easily hear ordinary conversation of others who are so far out upon the lake as to be indistinguishable, and as a great many Adirondack visitors habitually violate the law touching the slaughter of deer all such offenders are extremely careful not even to whisper a word that might betray their guilt when rowing upon the lakes.

HEADACHY, CONSTIPATED, BILIOUS, TAKE DELICIOUS "SYRUP OF FIGS."

Removes the Scum From the Tongue, Sweetens a Sour, Gassy, Bile Stomach, Cleanses Your Liver and 30 Feet of Bowels Without Griping or Nausea

If headachy, bilious, dizzy, tongue coated, stomach sour and full of gas, you belch undigested food and feel sick and miserable, it means that your liver is choked with sour bile and your thirty feet of bowels are clogged with effete waste matter not properly carried off. Constipation is worse than most folks believe. It means that this waste matter in the thirty feet of bowels decays into poisons are then sucked into the blood through the very ducts which should suck only nourishment to sustain the body.

Most people dread physic. They think of castor oil, salts and cathartic pills. They shrink from the after effects—so they postpone the dose until they get sick; then they do this liver and bowel cleansing in a heroic way—they have a bowel wash-day—That is all wrong. If you will

MADE ALL FRANCE LAUGH.

The Political Fight Between Dumas and Paul de Kock.

When Dumas pere opposed Paul de Kock for the representation of a Paris arrondissement the historic campaign convulsed the whole of France. Dumas' address was very brief. Substantially it ran:

"I have written 400 volumes and thirty-five plays. The books have brought in 11,453,000 francs and the dramas 6,300,000 francs. My work and my success have kept 2,500 people alive for thirty years."

Paul de Kock was more than equal to the occasion in his reply:

"I have kept many more people alive. My sixty-three novels have brought in 63,000,000 francs. I live in the Boulevard St. Martin. From 5 to 6 o'clock in the afternoon I sit at my window watching the cocoanut vendors pass. All France knows it. So not a visitor comes to Paris without writing in his notebook that he must not forget to go and see Paul de Kock at his window watching the cocoanut sellers. Each of them naturally takes the omnibus to get to the Boulevard St. Martin—threepence; afterward, the omnibus again—another threepence. Twenty thousand sixpences a year for twenty years! To the omnibus company alone I have brought £10,000. I pass over the Russian princesses who have been so eager to see me that they have not shrunk from the expense of a cab."—London Graphic.

The Lady or the Tiger.

Somebody told Henpeck the story of the lady and the tiger, describing vividly how the poor lover stood trembling before the door of the cage, wondering whether his fiancée would choose to surrender him to another woman or hand him over to the jaws of the tiger.

"Pooh!" commented Henpeck. "That's how it is with me at home. Every time I go in the gate I never know whether I'm going to meet a lady or a tiger."

An Old Time Sweet Perfume.

An ancient recipe for making a sweet perfume for the ladies runs as follows: Take storax, calanite and benjamin of each half an ounce, ladanum one ounce, musk two grains, and put them together in a fair brass mortar, which you must first warm so hot in the fire that with the heat thereof and beating with a little pestle it may work like wax, which, being thoroughly wrought, you may make it in little cakes or balls and so lay it up.

His Natural Death.

A clerk who acted as accountant to a London firm was charged by the head of the firm with embezzlement. He admitted his guilt and went home and cut his throat. The wound was not immediately fatal, but caused an abscess, from which he died afterward in hospital. The jury summoned to the inquest returned the amazing verdict of "death from natural causes."—London Mail.

The Greatest Singer.

Probably the most remarkable singer of all time was Farinelli, the beauty of whose soprano voice remains unequalled. It was of large compass, three and a half octaves, exceeding the ordinary range by six or seven notes. His debut at seventeen in Rome in 1722 was extraordinary from his competing with a trumpet player in sustaining and swelling a note of astonishing length and power. For fifteen years he traveled extensively, and he reached Spain in 1737, intending to stay a few months, but remaining twenty-five years. Philip V. of Spain had fallen into a profound melancholy, and the queen found Farinelli's voice the only remedy.

Minerals That We Waste Annually

Director of Bureau of Mines Describes Some of the Losses.

Conservation Would Save Millions of Dollars to the People.

DURING the last year in producing half a billion tons of coal we wasted or left underground in such condition that it probably will not be recovered in the future a quarter of a billion tons of coal; we turned loose into the atmosphere a quantity of natural gas larger than the total output of artificial gas during the same period in all the towns and cities of the United States; we also wasted or lost in mining, preparation and treatment of other important metalliferous and non-metalliferous minerals from 10 to 50 per cent of the year's production of such minerals.

The above is the startling manner in which Dr. Joseph A. Holmes, director of the United States bureau of mines, describes some of the losses in the yearly production of $2,000,000,000 worth of minerals in the United States.

The words of the director are a general summing up of a statement just issued by the bureau, in which an inventory of the various mineral wastes is given and in which the bureau shows how millions and millions of dollars may be saved to the people of this country through the right sort of conservation of its resources.

Valuable Deposits Lying Idle.

The general statement, written by Charles L. Parsons, chief mineral chemist of the bureau, contains the charge that many valuable mineral deposits are lying idle, while the products are being imported from other countries. Mr. Parsons further declares that through wasteful use of certain of the minerals the ultimate exhaustion and dissipation of some of the important useful minerals of today, from the standpoint of the race and in the light of present knowledge, are in sight. He urges that many deposits of ores of such low grade that they cannot be mined today should be left in position so that they can be mined in the future, as many ores, formerly of too low a grade to work with profit, are now sources of wealth. The wastes of the past are daily being converted into the dividends of the present, he declares.

In referring to the waste in the mining and use of coal Mr. Parsons says: "The wastes of carbon in our modern economy are almost incomprehensible. In mining coal in this country probably one-third of the bituminous coal and one-half of the anthracite are left in the mine. Fully 80,000,000 tons of anthracite are now being left behind in the mine each year, and it is estimated that since mining began in this country fully 2,000,000,000 tons of anthracite and 3,000,000,000 tons of bituminous coal have been left in the ground under conditions which make future recovery highly improbable.

"After coal is mined the losses by no means cease, although some of the culm that formerly went to waste by millions of tons is now being used. Probably not over 11 per cent of the energy in coal is being effectively utilized. The remainder of the energy is lost through the inefficiency of the steam boiler, the steam engine and the electric dynamo.

Boiler Efficiency.

"It is estimated that the boiler scale in locomotives alone in this country means a loss of over 15,000,000 tons of coal annually. It has been shown that one-sixteenth of an inch of scale means a loss of 25 per cent in boiler efficiency. The scientific control of the combustion of coal under boilers is constantly increasing, but the losses of carbon that is still pouring from our chimneys, defacing monuments, buildings and landscape, are without valid reason."

Mr. Parsons says that the losses in the making of coke by the old fashioned process wasted $40,000,000 in the United States last year. He calls this an entirely needless and seemingly ruthless loss. He declares that these coke ovens, without taking into account the value of the byproducts that were possible, wasted more than 1,000,000 horsepower in the year. All this loss might be prevented by the use of modern methods, he says.

"The dust from stacks and chimneys of all kinds," says Mr. Parsons, "is often not only a great waste of valuable material, but is one of the great evils of modern civilization. Valuable metalliferous dusts are strewn broadcast from the stacks of our smelters, gases and poisonous solids destroy vegetable and animal life, and masses of black smoke pour from our chimneys and settle in clouds over many of our cities, rendering them exceedingly disagreeable and unsightly. Even with present knowledge practically all dust nuisances are preventable, and legislation the country over is diminishing the dust output from smelters, cement plants and smoking chimneys, often with the result that the collection of dust incident to smoke prevention becomes a source of profit.

"Almost inestimable losses of sulphur, arsenic and bismuth are now taking place in the fine dusts and fine gases.

"In proportion to output the losses of zinc are probably greater than those of any other metal and are especially important because there is almost no recovery of zinc from manufactured products and almost no conservation of zinc by accumulation. Besides the losses in the mining and concentration of zinc ores, there are incalculable losses, which without question run into many millions of dollars and undoubtedly exceed the total value of the zinc mined, in slags and waste products from other processes. Zinc has been and in general still is considered about the worst impurity to be found in the ores of copper and lead, for it has always given trouble in their metallurgy.

"In combined but unfortunately in relatively insoluble form there are unlimited supplies of potash in this country. Because no methods are known for economically obtaining the potash we are obliged to import from Germany about $15,000,000 worth each year. Potash is absolutely essential, and unless methods can be found for obtaining it from domestic supplies we shall be obliged to purchase it from Germany at a price at least 400 per cent more than the cost of delivery in New York.

Waste of Nitrogen.

"Our waste of nitrogen, worth in combined form about 15 cents per pound, is almost inconceivable, and no calculation can give us a real idea of what this loss means. Although we produced last year over 400,000,000 tons of bituminous coal, we recovered only $3,800,000 worth of the $160,000,000 worth of recoverable nitrogen in the coal.

"Of course it is entirely impracticable under present conditions to recover as ammonia all of the nitrogen that might be obtained, but it does seem most regrettable that of 63,000,000 tons of coal converted into coke in 1910, containing $22,000,000 worth of recoverable nitrogen, only about one-sixth was treated in ovens or retorts which could make that recovery possible. The rest of the nitrogen in the coal went off as free nitrogen in the air.

"It is estimated that since the first by-product coke oven was built in this country in 1803 and up to the present time the coke coked in the old fashioned beehive ovens where the nitrogen was ruthlessly wasted in fire has amounted to about $10,000,000 tons. Had this been coked in by-product ovens the volatile nitrogen of the coal would have yielded twenty-three pounds of ammonium sulphate per ton, or a total of 9,315,000 tons, which at $90 a ton would have had a value of $558,900,000. But this would not be all. Had this ammonia been recovered it would have been used on the soil as a fertilizer, and the crops would have increased fully 20 per cent, and the saving would have been many millions more.

Facts as Regards Sulphur.

"The waste and the utilization of sulphur are both enormous and depend largely on local conditions. We produce sulphur cheaper than any other country in the world, sell it at perhaps the highest price and in the form of sulphur dioxide discharge it in the air from the stack of a single smelter in quantities almost as large as those utilized throughout the country from sulphur and domestic pyrite put together. If the sulphur discharged into the air from this one smelter were converted into sulphuric acid it would furnish more than enough sulphuric acid for the total fertilizer industry of the United States.

"This country is producing annually about 3,000,000 tons of sulphuric acid—the basis of all chemical industry—of which approximately one-half is used in the manufacture of fertilizers. The total amount of sulphur dioxide discharged into the air in this country would unquestionably suffice to make more than 8,000,000 tons of sulphuric acid."

BRIDE ARRESTED AT ALTAR.

Wealthy Husband Disowns Her When He Hears Forgery Charge.

As she was leaving the First Baptist church of Perth Amboy, N. J., after her marriage Mrs. Mary Pfeiffer King was arrested on a charge of forgery. The complainant was the treasurer of the Perth Amboy Savings Institution, who accused the woman of obtaining $100 on a forged order.

According to Seaman, the woman, who until her marriage was Miss Mary Pfeiffer, presented an order which purported to be signed by Anthony Haberkorn, whose wife she represented herself to be. She said after her arrest that she wanted the money to purchase the trousseau for her wedding. When her husband, Paul King, a wealthy resident of South Amboy, heard the charge against his bride he disowned her and refused to bail her out. Without his assistance she was unable to obtain a bondsman and was committed for examination in default of $1,000. King is sixty-five years old, while his bride is only thirty-five.

Antiquity of Gloves.

How early did mankind think of the convenience of the fingerless glove? Little was said of gloves in ancient times, but in most cases it is obvious that they had fingers. Those worn by the secretary of the younger Pliny, used when he visited Vesuvius, so that he might keep on jotting down notes in spite of the cold, must have been fingered, no less than those of the glutton in Antineus, who wore gloves at table so that he might handle the meat while hot and get in advance of his bare handed fellow diners.

Biggest Bull Moose Head.

The biggest bull moose head in the world, not excepting the collection recently gathered in Chicago, is in the possession of John F. Bible of Hopkinsville, Ky. The moose weighed 2,350 pounds and stood seven feet and a half high. Official sporting records show this is the largest head in preservation.
